WILLKIE TO TAKE PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM ROOSEVELT TO PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

Hitler and Mussolini Hold Conference at Bern

Fuehrer and Duce
Believed To Have Planned Drive in A New Direction

May Attack Gibraltar and Also Extend Operations
in Mediterranean;
Many Rumors Afloat

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.
BERN, SWITZERLAND, Jan. 19.—Adolph Hitler and Benito Mussolini conferred today, it was reported here in authoritative diplomatic circles, but where they met what they accomplished was unknown.

Speculation, however, was that German aggressive action in a new direction, independently or to bolster Italy, is imminent.

In the past, meetings between the two Axis leaders often have portended developments of importance.

Italy invaded Greece the same day as their last meeting, at Florence, on Oct. 28.

In the background of today's report, conference was the announcement in Vichy that French

Chief of State Marshal Petain and usted vice premier and foreign minister Pierre Laval have "dissolved" their misunderstanding.

Balkan Area Anxious

Thus, while the presence of German troops in Rumania keeps southeastern Europe in a foment of anxiety, wondering where Nazi power will strike next, the way is clear-

for Laval's return to the Vichy government, which the Germans have made a major condition for suming stalled French-German negotiations.

According to a Rome radio broadcast, heard in New York by NBC, a meeting of "the directorate of all

Axis parties" has been called for today. The announcement gave no further details.

Neither Rome nor Berlin officially confirmed the meeting place of the Fuehrer and Il Duce but, diplomatic sources said, it will be disclosed actually in a communiqué. It had been presumed that they would be in Germany, perhaps at Salzburg or Munich, because their last meeting was in Italy.

Observers agreed generally that

Mussolini was anxious to feel out whether his Axis partner could conceive military support for Italy in Albania and North Africa and if how much.

May Plan Surprise Attack

Axis sources flouted the story that they had put the finishing touches on a new surprise attack—perhaps against Gibraltar, perhaps in the Canary Islands, perhaps against Britain itself.

British sources launched the report that Hitler had found Mussolini weakening in his confidence of ultimate Axis victory and that they had reviewed dozens of plans about being satisfied with any.

Considerable credence was given neutral diplomatic sources to Romanian reports that the stage is set for increased German air aid to Italy against Greece and against the French in the Mediterranean, from Romanian, Italian and Libyan bases.

In the meeting, these sources said, they may have been to put the finals' approval on Nazi-Fascist air warfare.

matic quarters said the British have

Three heavy bombs hit the 23,000-ton Illustrious as she lay in Valetta harbor, DNB, official German news agency said, but smoke and flames from other bomb hits on the dock to which the carrier was moored and on factories and an arsenal prevented an accurate estimate of the damage.

The Suez canal raid, part of a swiftly developing German plan to destroy British control of the Mediterranean, was given a single sentence in its daily communiqué:

CAIRO, EGYPT, Jan. 19—British motorized units pursuing fleeing

Italian soldiers along the 200-mile

Sudanese front were believed to night to have crossed the border into Italian East Africa after crossing the Fascists from Kassala, the last Anglo-Egyptian Sudan city held by Premier Mussolini's men.

Their position precarious after weeks of constant patrol action by the British, the Italians withdrew

It was only today, however, that the British announced occupation of the town the Italians had captured last July.

Ethiopian irregulars operating in the Fascist rear were believed partly responsible for this withdrawal.

Abandonment of Kassala was believed to mean the Italians had dropped any idea of attacking the Sudan from this region.

Apparently satisfied with the Lib-

O'Conor Thanks Legislature for Diligent Work

Gives Great Credit to Delegates and State Senators

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 19 (AP)—Governor Herbert R. O'Conor issued a statement today thanking members of the Maryland legislature "for the manner in which they have undertaken the serious tasks confronting the state."

"Probably never before in the history of our state have the lawmakers addressed themselves so promptly and conscientiously to their work and the entire credit must go to the senators and delegates themselves," the statement said.

"It would seem that two reasons might be assigned for the present dutiful effort on the part of the legislators.

"In the first place, the members have delved into the work without partisan or factional considerations and have given clear indication that their sole purpose is to enact legislation which will be for the betterment of the people as a whole.

"As a second consideration, it is noticeable how much benefit has resulted from the work of the legislative council. Through the two-year studies of the council, the problems which usually cause interminable work at the outset of the legislature have already been analyzed. The ground work which the council has already performed, has proved of inestimable value to the entire membership and it can be said without exaggeration that the council already has justified itself.

Praises Legislature

"On the whole, the work of the legislature is proceeding most satisfactorily and the people of the state can rest assured that the important problems of the present will receive intelligent and careful consideration at the hands of their elected representatives. Again I say that the members of both Houses deserve the thanks of the people of the state."

The governor announced that he had received from Philip C. Turner, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, resolutions of congratulations on "the healthy condition of the state's finances."

These resolutions were adopted by the bureau at its convention at Baltimore last Friday.

"We congratulate the present state administration," the farm bureau statement said, "on the healthy condition of the state's finances. We applaud Governor Herbert R. O'Conor on his pointing the way to liquidate the state bonded debt and the state real estate levy within the next decade, a long cherished desire of our organization."

Farm Bureau Endorsement

The farm bureau endorsement followed receipt by the governor of commendation from the commission on governmental efficiency and economy of Baltimore city expressing appreciation for his "enlightened position not only in planning the budget but in seeking its consideration by citizens who take a serious interest in the affairs of state."

The commission's letter was forwarded by William J. Casey, chairman of the board of trustees.

It approved the method by which the state budget was prepared and praised Governor O'Conor's financial program as follows:

"We recognize that under your policy the state has made worthwhile progress in sound and modern methods in connection with its accounting and fiscal practices, and we note with much satisfaction that some of the recommendations that we have been making in this regard are already in effect."

German Bombers

tugboats alongside the carrier and another apparently hit a nearby destroyer.

The Illustrious was taken to Valletta after the Jan. 10 attack by dive-bombers on a British convoy. The 9,100-ton cruiser Southampton was so badly damaged in the attack that her crew sank her.

The agency said the Germans lost three planes. Three bomb hits were claimed in the Jan. 16 raid.

The high command's communiqué said that during yesterday afternoon "German battle planes and dive bombers, protected by German and Italian pursuit groups, attacked the airports of Haifa and Luca on the island of Malta with bombs."

Barracks, Runways Hit

Barracks and runways were hit, the communiqué said, and two German planes were lost, while the British lost one.

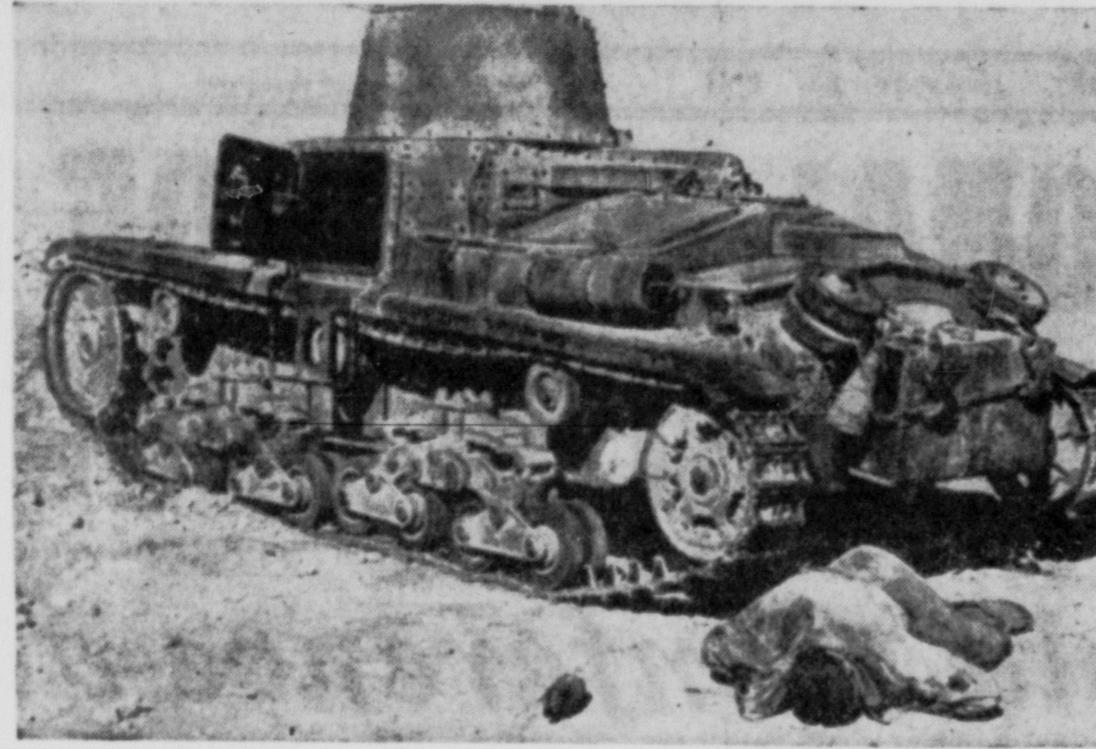

A Rome communiqué also referred to this attack, and said one German plane was missing and one British plane had been shot down.

In the communiqué, the high command said a German-submarine had sunk two steamers, totalling 8,600 gross tons, while on Friday night the air force started a number of fires in the southern part of Swansea, Wales, in attacks on military objectives, including transportation facilities.

Two airports in southeast England were attacked by a battle plane yesterday, the communiqué said, and scored bomb hits among "a considerable number of planes" on the ground.

DNB declared German long range guns had shelled a convoy off Dover, adding that the attack was "effective."

AN ITALIAN INVADER COMES TO A HALT

In the desolate sandy wastes of Libya, an Italian soldier lies dead in front of the tank in which he fought against the British. The undamaged tank was turned around and put in use against Il Duce's legions as the British forces swept onward. Incidentally, this is one of the few pictures to come out of the war zone showing the body of a dead soldier.

Italians Fail in Effort To Take Klisura Heights

Attack Beaten Off with Heavy Loss of Men and Materials

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Jan. 19.—An Italian attempt to recapture important heights held by the Greeks north of the Albanian city of Klisura was beaten off with Italian losses of men and material, it was reported here today.

Greek sources said their soldiers waited in snow-bound positions until the Italian counter-attackers approached very near. Then the Greeks opened up with heavy fire, driving the Fascists back.

The weather along the whole front continued severe, with a snow-storm blowing over most of the fighting ground. The Greeks said these bad conditions restricted activities to local operations and artillery duels.

(A Rome radio reply to Greek figures on Italian losses in Albania was heard in New York by NBC. The Rome radio said Greece has claimed 70,000 Italians were killed, wounded or captured, "or one-third of the Italian forces in Albania." It declared the Italian government has published the exact figures and asked why the Greeks have not overrun the whole of Albania, "considering they are now, as they imply, confronted by a mere handful of men?"

(Italy has officially announced her casualties from the start of the war to December 31 at 12,377 men killed, wounded and missing.)

Quadruplets May Be Born Today in Michigan Hospital

(By The Associated Press)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Eva Swanson, 35, was in St. Anthony's hospital today, waiting to undergo a Caesarean operation for multiple births, possibly quadruplets, her physician, Dr. R. A. Gilmore said.

The unusual operation was scheduled for 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The wife of Melbert O. Swanson, a factory employee here, Mrs. Swanson is of slight build, only four feet, eleven inches tall. They have been married four years and have had no children previously.

Dr. Gilmore confirmed that quadruplets were "expected," but declined to give further details.

In Chicago, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, said in commenting upon multiple births in general that most were Caesarean. He said that before the use of x-ray photographs diagnosis had been difficult but that at present a physician could examine the x-rays and by counting the spines could usually tell in advance the number involved in a multiple birth.

Statistics showed, Dr. Fishbein added, that quadruplet births occurred but 179 times out of 120,000,000 births. In the United States for the period from 1915-1940, there were forty sets of white quads and eight sets of colored ones. This was an average of three sets a year.

A set of quadruplets, all girls, was born to Mrs. Mary Annone, 34, at Norristown, Pa., Saturday, but all died within four hours. The attending physician said they were "seven months babies."

Mark, you must be crazy. If I throw over this concert I'm through as your manager." Dave Marks shrugged. "I can't stop it. I've invited Dr. Simon to conduct my orchestra on Nov. 15." But you fool, you. This is what I've been building up to. The concerts haven't mattered. It's the one. It's got all New York on its toes. Come on, old man. Be sensible. Look at it this way: Suc-

It isn't that bad," Dave countered. Then he put on his hat. "It's got to be that way."

When he got to the street he let his tears fall. But, he argued to himself, he had to give poor old Simon his chance with the baton. Just one more chance before death would come. Yes, it would soon be for the man who three years

Million Man Hours Used in Making Film

One million man-hours is the approximate amount of human labor involved in the Technicolor production of "Gone with the Wind," filmization of the celebrated novel by Margaret Mitchell, now showing at the Maryland theater.

Manpower, of course, isn't metered out like mechanical horsepower, and the estimate of a million man-hours doesn't mean that a million men—and women—could have made the picture in an hour.

Nor does it signify that Producer David O. Selznick, working alone, eight hours a day, 310 days a year, could have made the picture in 400 years. But it does give an idea of the magnitude of what is, in many respects, the most tremendous single production task ever attempted in the modern picture industry.

The figure of a million man-hours was reached by adding together the total time for all persons employed on the picture, including the stars, Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland, the director, Victor Fleming, and nearly 5,000 other persons who have worked since the picture began.

Providing the entertainment appeal of a robust comedy romance, "Lil' Abner" screen version of Al Capp's popular newspaper comic page feature, starting tomorrow at the New Liberty, now brings all of the fantastic Dogpatch characters into life, with the roles taken by a score of popular Hollywood players.

Until brought to the films, they existed only in the mind of Al Capp, their creator, and in his highly humorous cartoons. Now they are translated into active beings in a production with the love theme highlighted as in the comic strip.

The entire action of "Lil' Abner" takes place in Dogpatch. There lives Lil' Abner, a big and oafish mountain boy who's "afraid of love" and of beautiful Daisy Mae, in particular. But love is what Daisy Mae is in it with Lil' Abner, and she loses no opportunity to try and induce Abner to woo her.

Lil' Abner's pint-sized parents—Pansy, with the strength of a lion, and Lucifer, with the heart of a rabbit—are in favor of the match but can't do anything about it until one day Abner is told by a train barber, whom he mistakes for a doctor, that a tummyache he has acquired from eating a huge starvation preventer sandwich indicates that he will be dead within twenty-four hours.

Then, Lil' Abner gets a lot of things off his chest, thinking he has only a short time to live. Among them is a proposal to Daisy Mae and the capture of mighty Earthquake McGoon, the bad man from Skunk Hollow, in order to get a reward to eave behind for his parents. He even proposes to Wendy Wilcox, Daisy Mae's hated rival.

When he learns the next day that he is dead only from the neck up, he faces a situation more fearful even than that of kissing Daisy Mae. The solution is finally worked out in the Sadie Hawkins Day Race, Dogpatch's famous annual event.

al study and clinical analysis by a specialist. About all one can do is to help the perplexed parent look at the problem objectively, see it from different angles in a new light, and break it up into smaller, simpler parts. To try to understand the child or children and the other persons involved better, and to manage himself or herself better. After all the parents must solve their own problems if they are to be solved at all. The hope is that with the aid of some suggestions she might arrive at an earlier and better solution. Indeed, many parents have informed me that such does happen.

Problems Discussed in Column

Incidentally, the problems which parents present to me face to face or by letter are the kind which are discussed in this column. As a matter of fact, I constantly aim in this column to cover those subjects which most parents write or talk about.

Parents who read this column over a period of years get nearly everything I have written in pamphlets, books and magazine articles—and then some. My books and pamphlets are in most good public libraries. Any one wishing to have a list of these books, together with selected books by various other writers to parents, should write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Q. Should the parent choose the vocation his child should prepare for and insist the child accept his choice? A. No! No! No!

Cab Company Suspends Three Hours after Drivers Walk Out

The Astor Cab Company, Cumberland's largest taxi service, suspended operations for three hours Saturday afternoon after thirty-five of the forty drivers employed by the firm walked off the job at noon in protest against a new regulation of the company requiring them to provide gasoline for the cars.

All of the men returned to work at 3 p.m., upon the advice of James A. Dundon, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers' Union of America, acting in the absence of Robert Glenn, CIO organizer for the drivers' union. Fred W. Jenkins, president of the company, agreed to negotiate with representatives of the men this week, in efforts to effect a contract satisfactory to both sides. The drivers resumed work under the existing wages and regulations.

Jenkins said the drivers are paid on a commission basis and that the ruling requiring the men to buy their own fuel was put into effect recently because "too many of the drivers had disregarded instructions to shut off the motors of parked cars, which resulted in excessive waste of gasoline and increased operating expenses."

Dundon, asked by the drivers to act for them after they quit work, advised them that the proper method of settling the dispute was by negotiations, and advised them to return to their jobs, pending conferences with the company president.

TOO MUCH INCONVENIENCE

Too much inconvenience was the keynote of the opposition to State owned and State operated inspection stations. By far the greatest number of comments were received on this question and the majority felt, in addition to the fear of inconvenience, that there would be too great primary cost, and less efficient operation with the possible intervention of politics. One voter stated that "the low efficiency would soon equal the present carelessness." Others felt there should be a fee, but that it should go to the garages, that "Private inspection stations should be vigorously inspected" and that the State could have "inspectors at private garages, and industrial plants to supervise."

Some of those returning ballots voted definitely against every question with such remarks as "against everything—too much expense" and "my taxes real and personal, are way too high now."

Through this poll the Automobile Club hopes to secure a cross section of public opinion in the State of Maryland on the motor vehicle legislation proposed or already introduced at the 1941 Legislature. The Automobile Club believes that the public should have an opportunity to express its opinion on these matters as they come up before the Maryland General Assembly, and that a tabulation of their vote will prove helpful to the Legislators in making their decision.

Wage-Hour Bill Backed by CIO Will Be Introduced in W. Va., Legislature

A BULL'S-EYE

Extends Coverage to Every Business and Industry
Except Three Groups

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 19.—(P)—A state wage-hour bill which would cover all but domestic, agricultural and horticultural workers in interstate commerce is to be introduced in the 1941 legislature with the backing of the West Virginia Industrial Union Council (CIO), labor leaders said today.

The measure, still in the process of being written, would extend coverage to every business and industry not now regulated by the federal act except the three exempted groups.

No flat limits for either wages or hours have yet been decided upon, pending further study, and it was considered possible that wage zones might be set up in the bill to take care of variations of prevailing wage rates in different sections of the state.

The measure was one of a number which various groups indicated they will ask the legislature to consider after it reconvenes Tuesday following a second long recess.

Committee Ready To Report

Senator Lafon (D-Monroe) said the report of the interim committee which he headed as co-chairman will be ready for presentation possibly on Tuesday, along with three measures which bear the committee's recommendation.

One would establish a court of claims; another would provide permanent registration of voters; and a third would recodify sections of the law dealing with delinquent lands. A fourth proposal, for allocation of state aid for school pupil transportation, will be submitted without recommendation.

Other proposals will include a higher salary scale for teachers and a measure providing for non-partisan election of school boards.

President John B. Easton of the State Industrial Union Council, described the proposed wage-hour bill as a "flexible" plan which would permit, through special regulations, easement of any undue hardships by immediate application in any business or industry.

The increase will come in changed federal requirements, reducing exemptions for single persons from $1,000 to $800, and for married persons from $2,500 to $2,000.

The federal returns must be filed by March 15; state tax returns need not be made until April 15.

Fire Drills Held

Fire Chief Frank Taylor held Fire Drills at the Hyndman grade and high schools and at the Lonsdale Township Consolidated schools this past week. The drills were successful, the Hyndman grade school being emptied in fifty-five seconds, both first and second floor while in the high school the first floor was emptied in thirty-two seconds and the second floor was emptied in one minute, twenty seconds. In the Consolidated school the first floor was emptied in forty-five seconds and the second floor in one minute fifteen seconds.

Card Party Will Be Given Feb. 10
In Mt. SavageCongregation of St. Patrick's Church Makes
Plans for Affair

The major legislative proposals of the CIO, which supported Governor Neely in his campaign, are not expected to be introduced until after the governor addresses his message to the House and Senate.

It is understood that Neely may speak some time during the last week in January, after his return from the presidential inauguration in Washington and after he has had time to work on such a message. He now is gathering material for the address.

The flexibility of the CIO's wage-hour proposal, Easton said, would come through selection of wage boards for industries. The boards would be empowered to promulgate regulations governing special cases in which too great a hardship would be worked by immediate application of a hard-and-fast ruling on wages and hours.

The performance, which will be given in the school auditorium at 1:30 o'clock, will be open to the public as well as students of the school.

Brief Mention

All employees outside the domestic services, agriculture and horticulture would be covered.

Brief Mention

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a party Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in St. Patrick's hall for the benefit of the church. Miss Martha Reagan was selected to serve as chairlady of the affair. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a party Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in St. Patrick's hall for the benefit of the church. Miss Martha Reagan was selected to serve as chairlady of the affair. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Brief Mention

Members of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society will attend a meeting of the Western Maryland section of the organization, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Michael's hall, Frostburg. District officers will be elected. The feature attraction of the evening will be the presentation of a motion picture of the annual Holy Name rally, which was held last year at St. Mary's church in Cumberland.

The Rev. J. C. Blackman, pastor of the Ellerslie Methodist church, officiated at the 10:45 services this morning in the Methodist church here. The evening services were held under the direction of Joseph Geary.

Next Sunday the morning services will be celebrated by the Rev. H. Ewald, pastor of the Hagerstown Methodist church, and Mr. Geary will again have charge of the evening services. These arrangements were made due to the absence of the Rev. George D. Sampson, who is spending several weeks in Florida for his health.

William Rennie, one year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rennie, whose hand was badly burned on a stove last week, is improving.

William J. Jenkins is improving at a hospital in Clairton, Pa., where he is ill of pneumonia. It is expected that in a few days he can be removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Jones, Clairton, whom he was visiting when he became ill, after being hurt in a fall down the cellar steps.

Katherine Lancaster is improving from an illness of pneumonia.

North End Cagers Upset Akron Five, 43-37

Local Outfit Win
Seventh Straight

Cop Hard - Fought Tussle

Late Rally

Score Tied Nine Times during Battle---Henry,
Lothes Star

Playing the full forty minutes with only five men and flashing their best form of the season, the North End Social and Athletic Club cagers yesterday extended their winning streak to seven games by handing a well-balanced and favored Akron (Ohio) all-star team a 43-37 defeat on the SS Peter & Paul School court.

A crowd of over 500, the largest to witness an independent joust here this season, cheered wildly as the two teams battled hammer and tongs, matching basket for basket for nearly three stanzas and then cut loose with an appreciative ovation for the North Enders when the locals stepped away to the game in the concluding stages.

The score was tied nine times during the clam-bang affair, three times in each of the first three sessions. Skipper "Lefty" Byers' smooth-voiced and slick-passing Ohioans were command at the outset of the first quarter and were on top 7-5 as the stanza ended, but Harry Lothes, the North Enders' Houdini man, gave the fans one of the many thrills of the game when he executed with a beautiful, well-simmed shot from mid-floor five seconds before haltime to tie the score at 19-all at intermission.

North Enders Take Lead

The North End quint forged to the front with four minutes to go in the third heat when "Maulin" McHenry, the game's high scorer, looped a field goal making the score 22-5 and stayed on top the rest of the game.

Yesterday's setback, incidentally, was the second for the Buckeyes. The State team, their six-game run now at 11-point lead (39-30) midway in the final frame, but the galaxy of invading All-Stars, fighting desperately with every fading tick, looped nine straight markers in three minutes to crawl within four points of the locals.

With the scoreboard reading 36-35 and the stop-watch showing 36 minutes to go, Captain Bill Hahn interrupted the All-Stars' scoring at this juncture by dumping the two-pointer to reassure his teammates with a six-point lead. Al Werner of the losers tipped the followup shot to keep the outcome in doubt. Henry's whirling two-pump push from scrimmage with less than a minute to go concluded the scoring.

Many fans deserted their seats when the North Enders built up their nine-point margin in the final stanza, thinking the Keegannmen had come in the bag, but the losers' knowing finish caused them to take the lead back to their places to remain standing until the final whistle.

Henry and Lothes Sparkle

Although Henry and Lothes supplied the better part of the North Enders' scoring, the pair accounting for 28 tallies, Henry gathering 18 and Lothes 10, the whole North End team deserves praise for its determined fight and timely scores.

Hermon Koegel played one of the best games of his entire independent career with a sparkling floor percentage and two timely goals. Bus Miller, in his first starting assignment in a North End uniform, contributed seven markers and held Joe Garcia to two field goals, and Hahn played his usual steady game and scored four tallies.

Rocky Bloodorn, a leading man in the National Professional Basketball League last season, was a star for the All-Stars, with 10 points, while Bob Parsons took runnerup honors with eight markers. Bloodorn, a dead-eye long shot, scored most of his goals on his carefully-executed maneuver of the All-Stars from the outside.

Local's Shooting Off

Both teams tied the ball around effectively in the first chapter but neither outfit was able to keep with any degree of consistency. The North Enders' shooting was way off, several of their shots missing by a country mile, they failed to get the rebounds, and opened the scoring with a turnover basket and added a foul, allowing Miller's set goal from the free-throw line to stand.

Henry tied the score with one foul try, but George Belume, who hails from Marquette University, floated one through the air for a basket to put the invaders from 5 to 3. Hahn tied the score for the third time with a field goal. Bloodorn and Werner repeated one-pointers to put the locals in the lead at 7-5 at the end of the quarter.

Akron ran the count to 11-8 after the second session, forcing the locals to call timeout. Two quick goals by the Keegannmen a 12-11 lead with 5:30 gone and they took top until Byers' long goal at 15-all with two remaining. Garcia plunked a pointer from the side with one minute to go to regain the lead for the Ohio team but the ball went out-of-bounds and the Stars' basket and Lothes tied the score with his

Track Scene of Running Records

Track Seemed To Have More "Spring" for Foot Races

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ken Overlin, middleweight champion from Washington, D. C., headlines this week's national boxing program.

He goes against Tony Cisco of Norristown, Pa., in a 10-round non-title bout at Washington, D. C. Tuesday night.

The Metropolitan A. A. U. Championships, which have been kicked around from armory to armory in this region for the past several years, were run last night on the midget auto race track in the Bronx Coliseum, and the results astonished even the AAU bigwigs, who don't astonish easily.

Artistically, the midget track's boards, which the runners said seemed to have more "spring" than the ordinary running track, produced an entire new set of records for virtually every event of the Metropolitan meet, with special contributions by those three "Ole Man Rivers" of the sport—Gene Venske, Luigi Beccali and baldish Joe McCluskey.

Financially, the meet surpassed even the most pleasant dreams of all concerned. Some 4,500 Bronx fans turned out to welcome foot-racing to the neighborhood.

Track of Spruce

Seven of the usual events were run on the auto track, which is constructed of spruce rather than pine ordinarily used on running strips. Six of the races produced new meet records—one of them an unofficial indoor world record. This was the 1:46.7 clocking for New York university's crack 1,000-yard relay quartet. N.Y.U. swept all three relay events, cracking a meet mark in each. In addition to the 1,000-yard affair, the Violets won out in the mile relay in 3:23, and the mile-and-seven-eighths medley in 7:30.

Venzke celebrated the start of his sixteenth season in track competition—his tenth in the "big time"—by clipping six-tenths of a second off the meet mark for the 1,000-yard run, winning in 2:14.2. Beccali, who won the 1,000-meter Olympic title away back in '32, captured the mile run in 4:16.6, equaling the meet mark. And McCluskey, who comes closest to being the "perpetual motion" man of track, lapped his entire field to take the three-mile run in 14:34, shattering the old meet mark by twenty-three seconds. Jim Herbert, N.Y.U. graduate, came within one second of the indoor world record for 600 yards by taking his specialty in 1:12.2.

The former champions who can temporarily shrug at the new rules are Gene Sarazen, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Tommy Armour, Sam Parks and Johnny Farrell. Sarazen would have greeted it with open arms last year, however.

The number of former champs who will take advantage of the safety valve and compete by virtue of the new rule is problematical, although a few who still are tournament minded can be counted in with some degree of certainty. Grimes, manager of the league's Grand Rapids club, became involved in a controversy with Umpire Bob Williams on July 7. Williams charged that Grimes spit tobacco juice in his face in a report to the National Association, which ordered Grimes suspended. Landis made a salary award in Williams' favor and fined Grimes $500 for discharging the league $500 for discharging the umpire.

Figuring that six ex-champs will be in under the new rule, the list of competitors getting in on a free tick would be 42, leaving 128 places for which the other contenders can fight it out with mashes in the qualifying rounds. That's only six less than the number would be under former conditions, and figuring that some, and possibly all, of the six free riders would qualify if they were required to take the test, the openings for the bright young men are about the same as usual.

Frostburg Crushes
Shepherd 60 to 32

FROSTBURG, Md., Jan. 19—Piling up a huge lead in the first half, Coach George Carrington's Frostburg State College Mountaineers coasted to an easy 60-32 victory over the Shepherd College Rams of Shepherdstown, W. Va., here Saturday night.

With Joe Wagner, Johnny Meyers and Bill Thomas leading the barrage, the Mountaineers in the first period were drifting along with a 43-15 advantage at the half. During the last two periods, Carrington substituted freely and the Rams managed to score a few points lead in the third quarter, which ended 49-24.

Wagner and Meyers each tallied 15 points and Thomas a dozen for Frostburg while Lailey featured for Shepherd with 12 counters. The lineups:

GOLF'S HALL OF FAME

LOE ANGELES — Gold's Hall of Fame is now moving into an established setting. I suggested the idea two years ago and found immediate sponsorship from the Professional Golf Association of America, more briefly known as the P. G. A.

It was suggested that I name a committee of veteran golf writers who had the background of more than thirty years of American golf.

This committee includes Linde Fowler, Boston, experience 36 years; Kerr N. Petrie, New York, experience 34 years; O. B. Keeler, Atlanta, experience 34 years along the paths of the "ancient green."

The committee will offer its suggestion to more than 200 writers and column conductors who go in for golf and fighting back for the No. 1 contendership, takes on Andrew Jessurum also of New York, in an 8-rounder here the same evening.

It was the original idea of this committee to start things rolling by naming four men who certainly belong at the top—Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones, Francis Ouimet and Gene Sarazen, to put them alphabetically. They are, considering every angle, without question, the four top men of Baltimore for ten rounds.

Webb is slated to box Tommy Tucker at Madison Square Garden here Feb. 28, with the winner getting a crack at Billy Conn, the light-heavyweight king, for the title.

Financially, the meet surpassed even the most pleasant dreams of all concerned. Some 4,500 Bronx fans turned out to welcome foot-racing to the neighborhood.

Fort Hill Boys' Club
Quints Win Battles

The Fort Hill Police Boys' Club senior and junior quints rang up victories in a doubleheader on the Fort Hill floor; the senior crew turning back the Fort Hill Tenth Graders 22-19 and the junior besting the Central Y. M. C. A. Crusaders 24-15.

The Tenth Graders led up to the third quarter and lost the battle in the closing minutes on Wilson's pretty side shot. Kimmel was high scorer for the winners with eight points while Orndorff topped Fort Hill with 12.

Webb sparked the P. B. C. Juniors with four baskets while Tommy Geatz paced the Crusaders with eight. The victors held the upper hand throughout. The lineups:

Firemen Appoint Five Committees For Convention

Martinsburg Is First Out-of-State Organization To Accept Invite

Representatives of four volunteer fire companies met yesterday at the Chapel Hill Hose house, Arch street, and appointed five committees for the forty-ninth annual convention of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association, which will be held in Cumberland, June 18, 19 and 20.

The committees named are as follows:

Reception—Dr. Charles B. Shoemaker, chairman. Other members will be appointed.

Band and Music—Sylvester Clark, chairman. Other members will be appointed.

Benefit—Walter E. Kline, chairman; Ralph Gant, A. W. Zembower and J. F. McKenzie.

Program—R. J. Snyder, Ralph Gant and James L. Jones.

Hotels and Transportation—

Randolph W. Wishmyer, chairman and Walter Alexander.

Members of the committees representing the four companies which are acting as sponsors of the convention, namely, LaVale, Cresaptown, Cumberland Hose Company No. 1 and Chapel Hill Hose Company No. 2.

Sylvester Clark, chairman of the band and music committee, assured those present that he would make an effort to have at least thirty musical organizations in Cumberland for the convention.

Nelson W. Russler, general chairman, said that the first invitation sent to an out-of-the-state organization has been accepted by Martinsburg, W. Va., Hose Company No. 1.

Russler also announced that the state armory has been secured for the entertainment program which will be held the entire week of June 16 to 21.

The general chairman estimated that the convention will attract approximately 10,000 persons to Cumberland.

Ralph R. Gant, convention secretary, said that Mayor Howard Jackson, of Baltimore, has assured him by letter that several railroad coaches of Baltimoreans will come here for the big affair.

Another meeting of representatives of the four companies will be held Sunday, January 26, at 2 p. m., at the Chapel Hill hose house.

Criminal Trials To Start Today In Circuit Court

Manslaughter Case Heads List of Indictments on Docket

Criminal trials of the January term of court will open this morning with indications that all the cases on the docket will be disposed of within three days.

Charged with manslaughter in a highway fatality, Theodore Wilson Swanger, of Twiggstown, pleaded not guilty when arraigned Saturday and will go on trial this week.

Swanger was indicted in the death of Russell P. Lashbaugh, 16, of Mt. Savage, a hitch hiker, who was fatally injured last November 14 near Zihlman. The court appointed Attorney Morris Baron to defend Swanger.

Robert MacDonald Bruce was appointed by the court to defend Anthony Novo, 24, of Elizabeth, N. J., who pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering.

Police said he was apprehended by James G. Sowers, Jr., early the morning of December 22.

Of six traversers arraigned Saturday before Chief Judge D. L. Riley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster, four entered pleas of guilty.

Three Cumberland brothers received suspended sentences after they admitted breaking into the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company office, rear of 418 North Centre street, on the night of December 16, and taking $22.

Irvin Blondell Cannon, 32, John W. Cannon, 25, and Alfred Thomas Cannon, 21, were charged with breaking and entering. In addition, Irvin and John Cannon were accused of false pretenses, and Alfred was indicted for forgery.

Sentences Suspended

They were sentenced to eighteen months in the House of Correction with the sentences suspended for three years on condition they repay the money taken and refrain from drinking and further law violations.

Charles E. Riley, 31, of Cumberland, formerly of Cresaptown, pleaded guilty to forgery and received a suspended sentence for three years with orders to repay the American Stores within three months and pay court costs. The cash was for $9.40 and the court costs were $14.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harms placed all criminal cases on the assignment list for today.

In addition to indictments announced last week, Albert Leroy Marple and Eleanor A. Marple are charged with failing to support their father, Arthur L. Marple.

The local physician has raised the dog from a pup.

In the Waynesboro field trial, Beechbud finished second to Clauss's Ranger Boone, pointer, owned by Euclid Claussen, of Augusta, Ga.

Educators Discuss Work of High Schools

Subscribe to Principle of ADDRESS BY MAYOR "General" Education TO OPEN PARALYSIS in Radio Feature FUND CAMPAIGN

Six state and county school men covered a lot of ground last night in discussing the subject, "Is the American High School Doing Its Job?"

And while the six men who sat down to a table in the WTBO studio approached the topic from a number of directions in their critical appraisal, it was perhaps Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, who gave the most understandable definition of just what the job consists of, how schools are accomplishing it.

Mayors and councilmen of every incorporated town in Allegany and nearby counties have been invited to attend.

Lapel emblems from New York will be distributed at the dance.

While the topic of heavier vocational training programs was discussed at length, Mr. Kopp indicated that in his judgment this was not the primary purpose of high school work. The real purpose, in which he said he was inclined to believe, is that of laying a broad foundation for future training and the cultivation of the interests, appreciation and ideals of the pupils.

Describes System

This is what Mr. Kopp defined as "general education." It's purpose is to enable the pupil to eventually fit into society, assimilate himself to given situations and to enjoy his leisure time in a profitable manner.

In the main, the five other participants on the program appeared to agree with Mr. Kopp's definition.

The five were: Dr. Arnold Joyal, professor of educational administration, University of Maryland; John Seidel, Baltimore, assistant superintendent of education in the state; James E. Spitznas, state supervisor of high schools for the western district; Richard Rizer, supervisor of Allegany county high schools; and Harold McNally, teacher and director of special education in Allegany county.

Enrollment Jumps

The tremendous jump in enrollment since the first high schools in 1827 was stressed by Mr. Spitznas as the program opened. This enrollment jump created a problem, he said, namely that of mass education.

Years ago, it was explained, a majority of students were pretty much of one piece all coming from well-to-do homes where they had every advantage. Today, with 70 per cent of all children enrolled in schools, the situation is vastly different, it was explained.

As a result, classifications are now made and children grouped according to their respective abilities, Seidel said.

Small Schools a Problem

"This brings us to the problem of the smaller schools," Mr. Spitznas said, explaining that in many instances the smaller secondary schools "aren't doing a very good job" since they are unable to make necessary groupings and as a result pupils, in many instances, aren't getting a fair chance.

In view of the lack of skilled labor for the defense program, Dr. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Greek Society Has Installation and Celebration Here

Officers of Fort Cumberland Chapter No. 301, of the Order of AHEPA, local Greek society, were installed last evening at the I. O. O. F. hall, South Mechanic street, at a celebration marking the seventh anniversary of the chapter.

Officers installed were:

Peter Kouramian, president; George Parasenos, vice-president; John C. Liakos, secretary; Louis Soterakos, treasurer; Anton Anthony, chaplain; Paul Harris, captain of the guard; Spiros Etradies, warden; Harry Curtis, sentinel; Frank Diamond, chairman; Anthony Antonakos, Paul Katsanis, Peter Chakera, and James Etradies, board of governors.

Peter M. Chumbris, of Washington, lieutenant governor of District No. 3, which comprises twenty-three chapters in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, District of Columbia and part of West Virginia, was the installing officers.

A twenty pound birthday cake was cut and sandwiches and refreshments were served to the fifty members of the chapter and their friends.

Members of the Garrett county Bar were guests at the dinner, including Walter Dawson, William Offutt and E. Ray Jones, former secretary of state, all of Oakland.

The body remained at Stein's.

Cumberland Race Track Maintains Record for Winning Favorites

1940 Mark Is 45 Per Cent; Purses Boosted $12,500 in Five Years

Cumberland maintained its pride of place as the leader on Maryland half mile race tracks in the percentage of winning first choices in 1940, according to a report furnished by "The Maryland Horse."

Forty-five per cent of the first choices scored at Fairgo last season compared with 37 per cent at Hagerstown, twenty-nine per cent each at Bel Air and Timonium and twenty-seven per cent at Marlboro.

One hundred and sixty-nine owners shared in the winning money at the local track and 222 horses broke into the winner's circle.

In addition to indictments announced last week, Albert Leroy Marple and Eleanor A. Marple are charged with failing to support their father, Arthur L. Marple.

An average of $3,430 daily was distributed among horsemen in the eighty races in ten days here last year.

A grand total of $1,455,540 was distributed in purses through the State of Maryland in 1940.

The body was taken home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Lanigan, widow of Martin Lanigan, formerly of Cumberland, who died Wednesday, were held Saturday in Clearfield, Pa.

A son, Maynard M. Lanigan, this city, is among those surviving.

Louis Hogiemeier, Is Taken by Death

Upper Corriganville Coal Miner Found Dead in Bed at His Home

Louis Hogiemeier, 68, a coal miner, was found dead in bed early last night about 7 o'clock at his home in Upper Corriganville. Death was caused by a heart condition.

State police were called to the home by Raymond C. Allen, 51, and Lewis Lepley, 31, of Upper Corriganville, who said they missed Hogiemeier during the day.

Sgt. Charles Mahaga, who investigated, said the men told him they first became worried when they failed to see smoke coming from his house earlier in the day. They called the LaVale sub-station at 6:38 p. m.

Arriving at the home, Sgt. Mahaga was forced to break down a door to enter the house. He found Hogiemeier in bed.

Hogiemeier was brought here to his funeral home where a checkup showed no marks of violence on the body. He had been dead about fifteen hours, authorities said.

He lived alone.

Among those surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Orndorff Hogiemeier, and three children by a former marriage: George Theodore Hogiemeier, of Baltimore; Mrs. Emma C. Reed, of Cumberland, and Mrs. Dorothy Wagus, of North Branch.

The body remained at Stein's.
